CEIONLINE Gets Stuck on Rachael Hale and the World's Most Lovable Animals

San Jose, CA – October 2006

Cutting Edge Industries, a leader in sticker and decal design and distribution through flat vending machines, is completely stuck on 'the world's most lovable animals' as portrayed in a new selection of stunning images by Rachael Hale.

Innovation is the key to success and Cutting Edge Industries have been at the forefront of the development of die cut prismatic stickers distributed through flat vending machines. That's just one side of their success. Using only the safest materials, their innovation led CEI to produce unique sticker/tattoo products unavailable anywhere else. With their Headquarters in San Jose, California CEI has several key distributors throughout the USA and Canada.

As their success grew, so did their vision for the future, which focused on Rachael Hale and the much loved images that are 'the world's most lovable animals'.

Who could resist the cheeky feline expressions and colorful canine characters that have made Rachael Hale a brand much sought after around the world? The unique personalities of each gorgeous pet shines through in every photograph, while the delightful mischief they get into endears them to people of all ages forever. Their message, highlighted through these adorable images is one of friendship, loyalty and trust. Rachael Hale's extraordinary skill exquisitely captures the character and personality of her adorable subjects. The inimitable style evokes a sense of belonging and connection with the beautiful and bemusing expressions that we all recognize.

Parents love to buy stickers for children because of the good value and the chance to bring a smile to their child's face. Now with 'the world's most lovable animals' about to be released through CEIOnline, kids can collect the series, enjoy an exciting new range of stickable and wearable animal art, while discovering enough new friends to stick with for a lifetime.
